

Climate Ethics and Climate Economics: Discounting the Future

Tuesday 12 January (The Cube, Faculty of Law, 10 Saint Cross Road)

17:00-18:30: Simon Caney, 'Environmental Sustainability, Population and Intergenerational Justice'
Public lecture, followed by a reception

Wednesday 13 January (Oxford Martin School, 34 Broad Street)

10:45-11:00: Introduction

11:00-11:45: Partha Dasgupta, 'Discounting the Commons'

11:45-12:30: Comments by Ingmar Schumacher, and open discussion

12:30-13:30: Lunch

13:30-13:45: Antony Millner, 'Heterogeneous Intergenerational Altruism'

13:45-14:30: Comments by Kai Spiekermann, and open discussion

14:30-14:45: Wilfred Beckerman, 'Valuing Life and Valuing Risk to Life'

14:45-15:30: Comments by Josh Wells, and open discussion

15:30-16:00: Coffee break

16:00-16:15: Monika Foltyn-Zarichta, 'Double Discounting for Intergenerational Economic Net Present Value'

16:15-17:00: Comments by Göran Duus-Otterström, and open discussion

17:00-17:15: Moritz Drupp, 'Discounting Disentangled'

17:15-17:30: Kian Mitz-Woo, 'Expert Elicitation in Climate Economics'

17:30-18:30: Comments by Kian and Moritz on each other's papers, and open discussion

20:00 Dinner at al-Shami at 25 Walton Crescent

Thursday 14 January (Oxford Martin School, 34 Broad Street)

09:30-09:45: Simon Caney, 'Climate change, intergenerational equity and the social discount rate'

09:45-10:30: Comments by Jessica Lee, and open discussion

10:30-11:00: Coffee break

11:00-11:15: Conrad Heilmann, 'How to Think About the Future: Methodological Values for Time'

11:15-12:00: Comments by Benito Mueller, and open discussion

12:00-13:00: Lunch

13:00-13:15: Martin Hänsel, 'Intertemporal Distribution of Well-Being and Integrated Assessment'

13:15-14:00: Comments by Conrad Heilmann, and open discussion

14:00-14:30: Coffee break

14:30-14:45: Paul Kelleher, 'Discounting and Evaluative Scope'

14:45-15:30: Comments by Simon Beard, and open discussion

15:30-16:30: Closing session

Friday 15 January (Oxford Martin School, 34 Broad Street)

12:00-13:30: Sir Partha Dasgupta 'Birth and Death'
Public Lecture