

Colour coded labels

Within an operation, there are lots of medicines that are required.

The common medicines that are used or need to be drawn up ready to use in case of an emergency are always labelled.

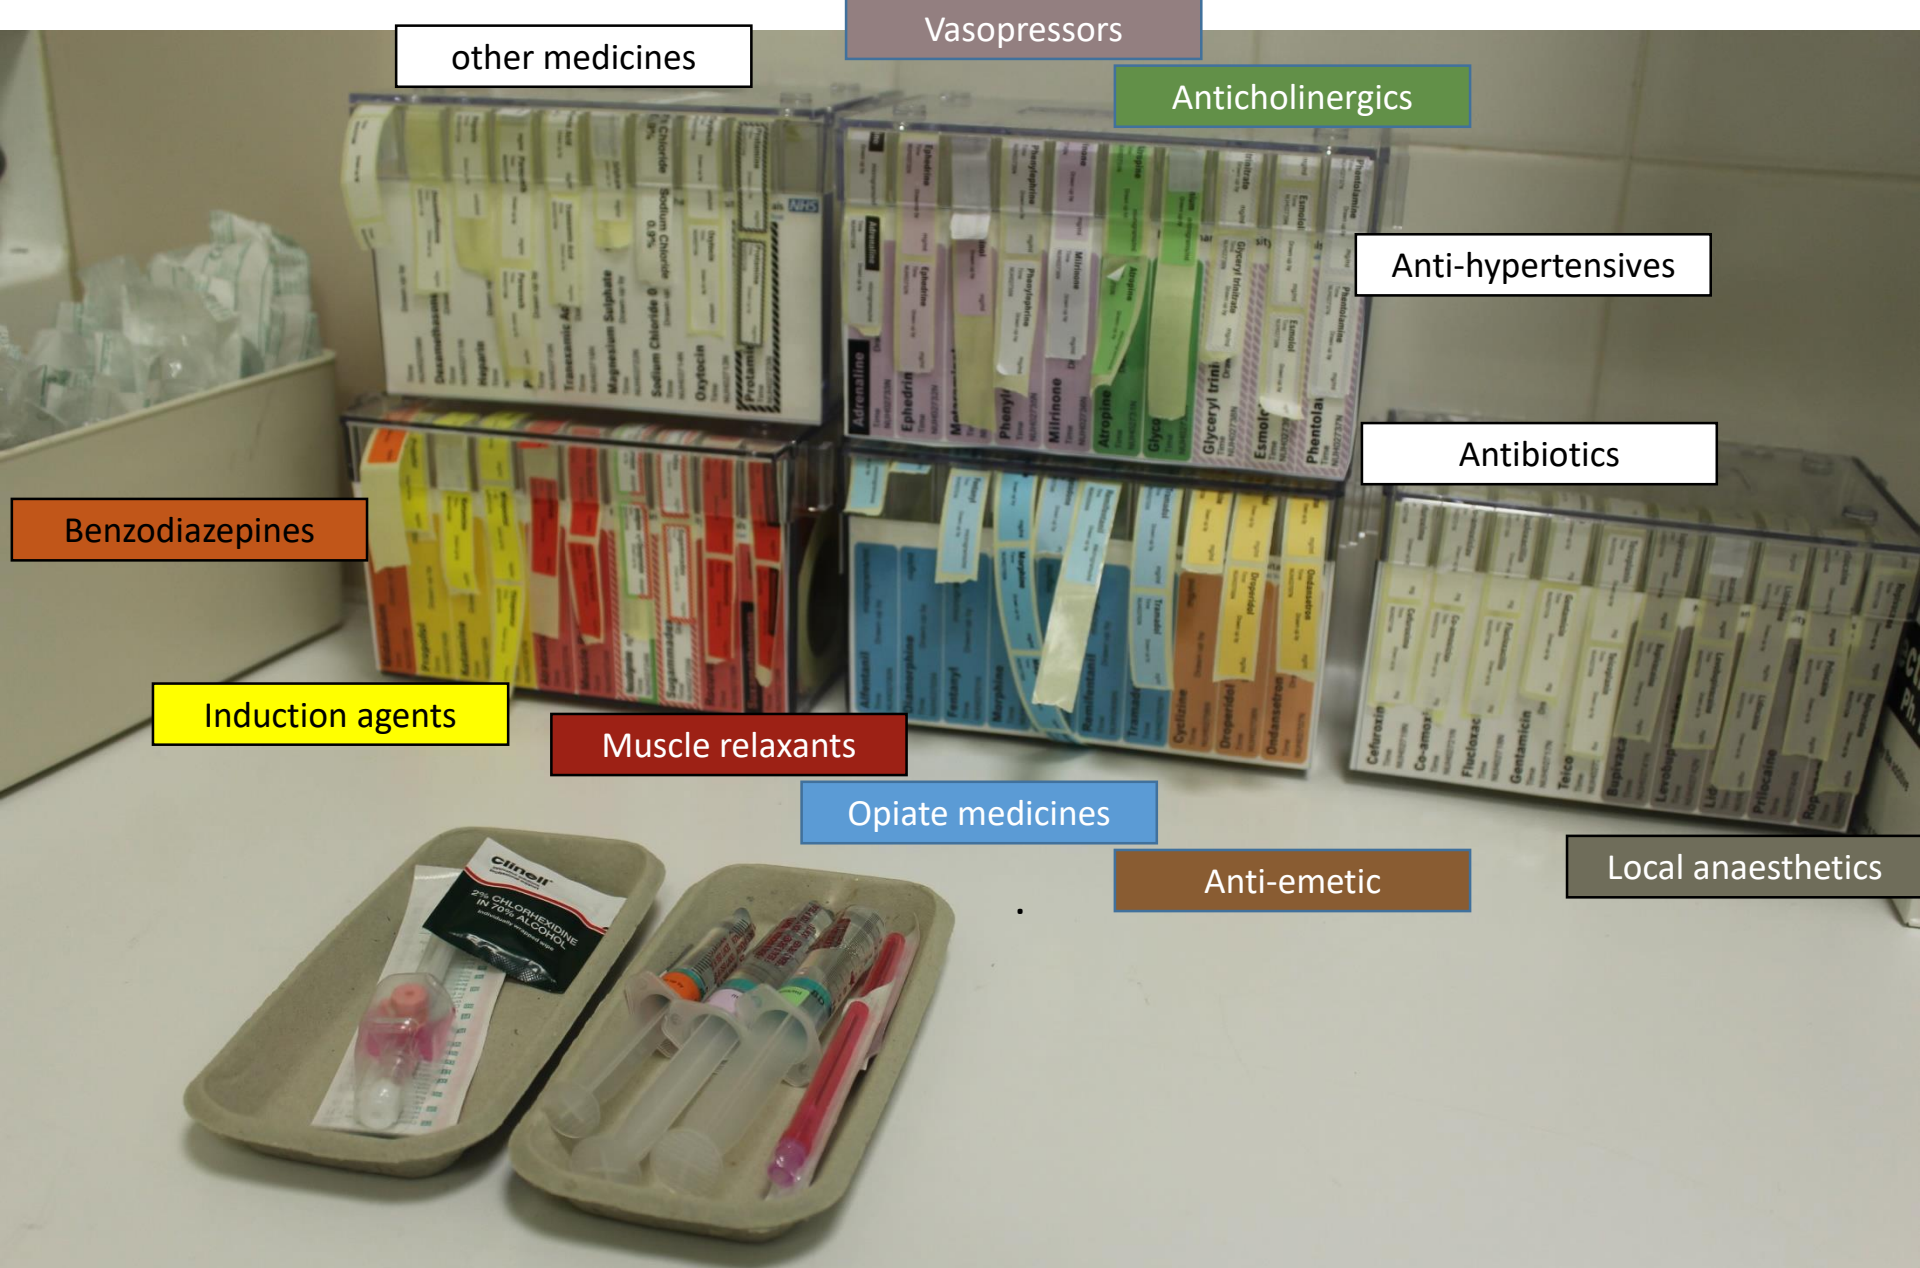

Colour coded labels

A colour coding system is used which denotes the group of drugs a medicine belongs to. This is particularly helpful where medicines are drawn up in syringes ready for use.

As with any medicine, it requires the practitioner using the medicine to carefully check what the medicine is prior to giving it.

Colour coded labels

other medicines

Vasopressors

Anticholinergics

Anti-hypertensives

Antibiotics

Benzodiazepines

Induction agents

Muscle relaxants

Opiate medicines

Anti-emetic

Local anaesthetics