

CRCEES Research Days, 11-12 May 2007

Kelvin Conference Centre

Call for Papers

The Centre for Russian, Central and East European Studies (CRCEES) will be holding the first of its annual Research Days at the Kelvin Conference Centre, University of Glasgow, on 11-12 May 2007.

The plan is to have a combination of research panels, plenary sessions and informal workshops in order to explore the five research themes within CRCEES. These are:

Aspects of identity and culture and their social, political and economic implications;

Economic and social transformation;

Political transformation and international relations;

Literary, cinematic and cultural developments in the area;

The politics of language.

CRCEES has established an Organising Committee to arrange this event, chaired by Geoff Swain (Glasgow) and comprising Moya Flynn and Jon Oldfield (Glasgow), Cynthia Marsh (Nottingham) and Lara Ryazanova-Clarke (Edinburgh)

The Organising Committee is calling for proposals for individual papers or panels, plenary sessions, and workshops. It is particularly keen to involve contributions from post-graduate students; these may either take the form of papers integrated within panels or discreet post-graduate events. Participants from outside the CRCEES network are welcome, but their funding can not be guaranteed.

The members of the Organising Committee are happy to give advice, and all proposals should be with Geoff Swain (g.swain@lbs.gla.ac.uk) by the deadline of 31 January 2007.