8th Enquire Conference Programme Outline (Provisional), 7th of November 2015.

9:00	Registration & Coffee
9:30	Introduction &	Welcome and Introduction: Amal Treacher Kabesh, University of Nottingham
	Plenary	Keynote Speaker: John Holmwood, Univers	ity of Nottingham
	Session 1	Q&A
10:45	Break
11:00	Morning Sessions	1: Micro-power dynamics in the research process	2: Negotiating access to/through powerful groups	3: Power and identity
		Walking a tightrope: ethical tensions and power struggles in an autoethnographic PhD Angela Blanchard, Keele University	The Walls of Jericho: Breaking through the layers of a local authority Youth Justice Service to access young offenders. Allan Booth, University of Nottingham.	The Power of Identity: The (new) Bulgarian Enlighteners and the Desire to Make a Difference Elena Genova, University of Nottingham
		You're so young, why are you researching something so boring?" Managing age as a power imbalance during interviews Rupal Patel, University of Nottingham	'Studying Up': Themes of and issues of the inverted ethnographic gaze Alex Simpson, University of York	Issues of power and voice in identity research with young people: Theoretical and practical considerations Chelsea Swift, University of York
		From the 'researched' to the 'researcher': Blind-spots of ethnography Sruthi Herbert, SOAS University of London	Investigative Social Science: When access is denied, could journalism hold the key to a different door? Rachel Williams, Cardiff University	Defending difference: Power and resistance in the cultural politics of young adult Muslims in Britain Anisa Mustafa, University of Nottingham.
12:00	Break

Conceptualising power, structure and agency in the sociology of elites Tom Mills, University of Bath Thinking of Capitalism in Biopolitical Context Emrah Karakilic, Goldsmiths, University of London A governmentality approach to work and welfare: exploring policy and discourse as a microphysics of power Louise Prendergast, Bangor University The Falkland Islands (Malvinas) Territorial Dispute: A Gentler Approach to International Law Marc Wesley, University of Nottingham Conceptualising power, structure and agency in intellectual" Reva Yunus, University of Warwick Representations of Precarity: Power and Compromise in Secondary Analysis Stefanie Williamson, University of Nottingham Two specialists and a generalist walk into a bar' — Who's got the power in interactions got the power in interactions with diagnosis, teach experts and treatment inside a school Sebastian Rojas Navarro, King's Colleg London Knowledge or power? Israel/Palestine politics in the academy Hilary Aked, University of Bath Morio Griffiths. Liverpool John Moores University: Problematizing involvement: whose knowledge counts as power in patient safety? Liz Sutton, University of Lident's perspectives interactions with diagnosis, teach experts and treatment inside a school Sebastian Rojas Navarro, King's Colleg London Knowledge or power? Israel/Palestine politics in the academy Hilary Aked, University of Bath Maria Zubair, University of Nottingham	12:15	Plenary	Keynote Speaker: Liza Mackenzie, London School of Economics
Afternoon Sessions Agovernamentality approach to work and welfare: exploring policy and discourse as a microphysics of power Louise Prendergast, Bangor University The Falkland Islands (Malvinas) Territorial Dispute: A Gentler Approach to International Law Marc Wesley, University of Nottingham Afternoon Sessions S: The researcher as a powerful creator of knowledge Re-imagining ethics: equality as the beginning and researcher as 'public intellectual'' Reva Yunus, University of Warwick Representations of Precarity: Power and Compromise in Secondary Analysis Stefanie Williamson, University of Nottingham A governmentality approach to work and welfare: exploring policy and discourse as a microphysics of power Louise Prendergast, Bangor University The Falkland Islands (Malvinas) Territorial Dispute: A Gentler Approach to International Law Marc Wesley, University of Nottingham The Falkland Islands (Malvinas) Territorial Dispute: A Gentler Approach to International Law Marc Wesley, University of Nottingham Agovernmentality approach to International Law Marc Wesley, University of Nottingham S: The researcher as a powerful creator of knowledge Re-imagining ethics: equality as the belies: equality as the collection of knowledge of Power, knowledge and the body of a bits to deliver choice and control for disabled people? Miro Griffiths. Liverpool John Moores University of Nottingham Problems in Secondary Analysis Stefanie Williamson, University of Power and Compromise in Secondary Analysis Stefanie Williamson, University of Power in inter- and trans-disciplinary research? Eleanor Hadley-Kershaw and Carlos Cuevas-Garcia, University of Nottingham The Falkland Islands (Malvinas) Territorial Dispute: A Gentler Approach to International Law Marc Wesley, University of Nottingham Knowledge or power? Islanding the power of normative Williams on the academy Hillary Aked, University o			Q&A
Conspiracy theory or social science? Conceptualising power, structure and agency in the sociology of elites Tom Mills, University of Bath Thinking of Capitalism in Biopolitical Context Emrah Karakilic, Goldsmiths, University of London A governmentality approach to work and welfare: exploring policy and discourse as a microphysics of power Louise Prendergast, Bangor University The Falkland Islands (Malvinas) Territorial Dispute: A Gentler Approach to International Law Marc Wesley, University of Nottingham Conspiracy theory or social science? Conceptualising power, structure and agency in the beginning ethics: equality as the beginning and researcher as 'public intellectual' Reva Yunus, University of Warwick Miro Griffiths. Liverpool John Moores University Problematizing involvement: whose knowledge counts as power in patier safety? Liz Sutton, University of Leicester Nottingham 'Two specialists and a generalist walk into a bar' – Who's got the power in inter- and trans-disciplinary research? Eleanor Hadley-Kershaw and Carlos Cuevas-Garcia, University of Nottingham Knowledge or power? Israel/Palestine politics in the academy Hilary Aked, University of Bath Knowledge or power? Israel/Palestine politics in the academy Hilary Aked, University of Bath Maria Zubair, University of Nottinghan	13:15	Lunch
Conceptualising power, structure and agency in the sociology of elites Tom Mills, University of Bath Thinking of Capitalism in Biopolitical Context Emrah Karakilic, Goldsmiths, University of London A governmentality approach to work and welfare: exploring policy and discourse as a microphysics of power Louise Prendergast, Bangor University The Falkland Islands (Malvinas) Territorial Dispute: A Gentler Approach to International Law Marc Wesley, University of Nottingham Conceptualism and researcher as 'public intellectual'' Reva Yunus, University of Warwick Representations of Precarity: Power and Compromise in Secondary Analysis Stefanie Williamson, University of Nottingham Two specialists and a generalist walk into a bar' — Who's got the power in interactions with diagnosis, teach experts and treatment inside a school Sebastián Rojas Navarro, King's Colleg London Knowledge or power? Israel/Palestine politics in the academy Hilary Aked, University of Bath Moria Zubair, University of Nottingham Moria Zubair, University of Nottingham to deliver choice and control for disabled people? Miro Griffiths. Liverpool John Moores University: Problemátic in Secondary Analysis Stefanie Williamson, University of Notingham of Dealing with power asymmetr Children's perspectives interactions with diagnosis, teach experts and treatment inside a school Sebastián Rojas Navarro, King's Colleg London Knowledge or power? Israel/Palestine politics in the academy Hilary Aked, University of Bath	14:00		_	I	6: Power, knowledge and the body
Emrah Karakilic, Goldsmiths, University of London A governmentality approach to work and welfare: exploring policy and discourse as a microphysics of power Louise Prendergast, Bangor University The Falkland Islands (Malvinas) Territorial Dispute: A Gentler Approach to International Law Marc Wesley, University of Nottingham A governmentality approach to work and welfare: exploring policy and discourse as a microphysics of power Louise Prendergast, Bangor University The Falkland Islands (Malvinas) Territorial Dispute: A Gentler Approach to International Law Marc Wesley, University of Nottingham A governmentality approach to work and welfare: exploring policy and discourse as a microphysics of power Louise Prendergast, Bangor University Eleanor Hadley-Kershaw and Carlos Cuevas-Garcia, University of Nottingham Knowledge counts as power in patients safety? Liz Sutton, University of Children's perspectives interactions with diagnosis, teache experts and treatment inside a school Sebastián Rojas Navarro, King's Colleg London Knowledge or power? Israel/Palestine politics in the academy Hilary Aked, University of Bath Maria Zubair, University of Nottingham			Conceptualising power, structure and agency in the sociology of elites	beginning and researcher as 'public intellectual''	disabled people? Miro Griffiths. Liverpool John Moores welfare: exploring policy and discourse as a microphysics of power Louise Prendergast, Bangor University The Falkland Islands (Malvinas) Territorial Dispute: A Gentler Approach to International Law Marc Wesley, University of Nottingham Welfare: exploring policy and discourse as a microphysics of power Louise Prendergast, Bangor University Eleanor Hadley-Kershaw and Carlos Cuevas-Garcia, University of Nottingham Knowledge or power? Israel/Palestine politics in the academy Hilary Aked, University of Bath Maria Zubair, University of Nottingham Children's perspectives interactions with diagnosis, teache experts and treatment inside a school Sebastián Rojas Navarro, King's College or power? Israel/Palestine politics in the academy Hilary Aked, University of Bath Maria Zubair, University of Nottingham			Emrah Karakilic, Goldsmiths, University of	and Compromise in Secondary Analysis Stefanie Williamson, University of	1
Dispute: A Gentler Approach to International Law Marc Wesley, University of Nottingham Marc We			welfare: exploring policy and discourse as a microphysics of power	into a bar' – Who's got the power in inter- and trans-disciplinary research? Eleanor Hadley-Kershaw and Carlos Cuevas-Garcia, University of	interactions with diagnosis, teachers, experts and treatment inside a school Sebastián Rojas Navarro, King's College
45.20 D			Dispute: A Gentler Approach to International Law	Israel/Palestine politics in the academy	Defining 'the problem', setting the agendas: expert knowledge, academia, and the power of normative White public health discourses on 'ethnicity' and 'culture' Maria Zubair, University of Nottingham
TSYN I Break	15:20	Break

15:40	Plenary	Keynote Speaker: Les Back, Goldsmiths
	Session 3	Q&A
16:40	Close &	Close of event
	Prizes	Prizes for the Best Paper and Best Abstract
17:00	Drinks	Drinks: venue to be confirmed